

The Sun

Have you ever seen
Anything in the world
More wonderful
Than the Sun?
Every Evening
Relaxed and easy,
It floats towards
The Horizon.
Out of the Blackness
Every morning
On the other side
Of the sea.
Like a red flower,
The sun rises
Streaming upwards
A sight for you and me.
It fills you with warmth
And happiness,
As the Sun's rays reach out
For you,
It helps not just you
But the plants and
All the life upon the Earth
Old and new
It energises green plants
That help us breathe,
By producing Oxygen
That we'll benefit from in years to come.
Have you to, like me,
Gone crazy for power,
For things that relate
With the Sun?
